O.P. IS FACING FIVE-CORNERED RUN FOR MAYOR

One Candidate Offered By Democratic Party Thus Far

WEEK ENTRANTS FOR OTHER JOBS

To "Takers" In View To-day For Council Presidency

Republicans of Salem today faced prospect of a five-cornered contest for mayor at their primary election Tuesday, Aug. 13, while Democrats apparently will have only one candidate for the nomination.

Harry W. Kesselmir filed his petition today for the Republican nomination and Clyde R. Reich and several days ago. George Har- is known to have taken out a petition has John Stratton. The is Harry V. Robinson, who is expected to file by Friday, the first day when petitions may be sent to the county board of elections at East Liverpool.

One Democratic Candidate

Although certain Democratic names have been casting about for an opponent for him, Sam Kraus, the only Democratic candidate for mayor at present, with little respect that any other Democrat will be persuaded to run.

Republicans, meeting last night, had most of their ticket, but two spots still were uncertain today. These are president of council and councilman from the Second ward. At least four will be in the race for the three nominations for councilman-at-large, petitions having been taken out by Arnold Lutes, W. Barnard, Charles Rheutan and George Bricker.

Chalmers E. Zimmerman, First ward, and Joseph Calladine, Fourth ward, are seeking re-election on the Republican ticket and Paul B. Brady Myers is the candidate from the Third ward.

Auditor K. L. Webster and Solicitor Lozier Caplan have filed for nomination on the Republican ticket and Orvil C. Hoover today filed as the party candidate for measurer.

Several Vacancies Yet

After a meeting last night Democrats announced they had several vacancies on their ticket. They added names Roy Guess, who filed a city auditor.

The post of president of council seems to be worrying the Democrats. It has been the Republicans, with a candidate in the field today. Two Democrats, Lyman Goodballet and George McArthur, present councilmen, are out for councilmen-at-large and the party has candidates for only two of the four ward councilmen, Paul Asty in the Second and William LaJeunesse in the Third. P. L. Blevins has been mentioned for the First ward and Mrs. Paul Covert for the Fourth ward. Both of these are indefinite.

Treasurer Vincent Judge is seeking a second term on the Democratic ticket.

Petitions for all city offices must be filed with the clerk of the board of elections by 6:30 p. m. today.

City Streets In Lisbon Oiled Free

At a cost of $1,000, all unpaved streets here have been oiled, and at no cost to property owners. Unpaved streets so oiled total 5.3 miles. The contract was recently awarded by the village council to the Allied Products Co.

MANY DIE IN BERLIN BLAST; LIST GROWS

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, June 13.—Several hundred persons were reported killed today in a blast of the explosives factory at Reinhardt near Wittenberg.

All the factory's workshops were destroyed.

Many houses in the vicinity were demolished and window panes for a radius of several miles were smashed.

Between noon and 6:40 p. m. ambulances were carrying the smashed bodies of dead and dying workmen from the debris of the factory to hastily-constructed sheds near the scene.

Physicians, surgeons, and Red Cross workers from throughout the district were summoned to Reinhardt.

POTTERS PLAN ANNUAL PICNIC

Preparations Made for 15,000 Workers and Families, at Myers Lake Saturday

Preparations to entertain 15,000 ceramic workers, their families and friends at the annual picnic of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters at Myers Lake park in Canton, Saturday, June 15, were nearing completion today.

Chairman William Watkins, East Liverpool, of the sports committee announced the athletic program will include boxing, wrestling, baseball, softball, soccer, horseback contests and track events.

One hundred pairs of roller skates will be distributed to children and other prizes awarded. Admission to the park will be free and coffee will be given to the picknickers. Free dancing will be offered at the park pavilion between 2 and 5 p. m.

A baby contest will open the forenoon program, after which a penny scramble will be staged. The athletic events will take place at 1 p. m. and a beauty contest for children between 3 and 8 years of age, at night. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded.

Plans are being made by Salem potters to charter a bus for the trip.

$14,000,000 PAY FOR TEACHERS

Columbiana County Can Share In $117,608 In State Fund

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, June 13.—A $14,000,000 pay envelope awaits Ohio school teachers.

All that is needed to start the flow of salaries—many long overdue—is for boards of education to take advantage of recently enacted legislation. C. H. Hutchins, auditor of the education department, said today.

Hutchins delved into a stack of figures and disclosed that $16,000,000 has been made available by the new laws and that back salaries can be cleared up by Aug. 1.

School teachers in many districts of the state for the past three years have been hard pressed financially as the result of infrequent paydays. Of the $14,000,000 due teachers, $11,000,000 includes obligations dating back to 1932.

About $12,000,000 has been made immediately available by the Wright act, which allows school districts to borrow up to 50 per cent of sales tax revenues coming to them.

The Traxler-Kiefer-Matthews foundation school program opened an avenue for another $4,000,000. Under its districts may issue notes on anticipated revenues from the cigarette tax which will operate for the first 10 months of 1935.

A survey by counties of probable amounts that 50 per cent sales tax loans may be based on, shows, Columbiana county, $117,608; Mahoning, $1,006,378, and Stark, $879,594.

The state tax commission's estimate on the revenue which will be available for the school districts for the 11 months during which the sales tax will operate was given as $23,999,100.

Attractive Blonde Slain; Man Sought

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 13.—Dorothy Horn, an attractive 19-year-old blonde, was found shot to death along a roadway near this city today.

Deputy Coroner A. Blaine Day announced she had died after a struggle and after being attacked.

Police immediately began a search for a man who they were told accompanied the young woman on a round of beer gardens last night.

Miss Horn had been shot in the left side of the head. Laborers on their way to work found the body.

Main Scrap Is Slated For 9 P. M.; Broadcast Planned

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, June 13.—A row between Max Baer and Jimmy Braddock's handlers created a turbulent scene in the New York state athletic commission offices today as the heavy-weight champion and his challenger were weighed in for their 15-round title bout in Madison Square Garden Bldg.

Braddock himself, his manager, Joe Gould, and his trainer, Mike Cantwell, all took turns dressing down the champion verbally and for a time it appeared as though there might be some informal fist-cuffs. The scene was precipitated by Braddock's refusal to shake hands with the champion and did not subside until Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan intervened.

Baer tipped the scales at 209½ pounds, giving him an advantage of exactly 17½ pounds over Braddock who weighed 191½.

BY ALAN GOULD.

Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, June 13.—James J. (Long Shot) Braddock will get the opportunity tonight to spring one of the greatest fistic upsets of all times when he battles the clouting Californian, Max Baer, for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Braddock was on the short end of 5 to 1 odds that seemed certain to lengthen by the time the clans gathered around the ring.

At least nine of every ten customers willing to pay from $2 to $20 for eyewitness privileges in Madison Square Garden's sprawling open-air arena on Long Island, planned to cheer the underdog enthusiastically regardless of the prospect that they will see him soundly whipped.

35,000 Expected
They may rattle around the bowl a bit, these fans, for it seemed unlikely there would be more than 35,000 spectators in an arena built to handle more than twice that number.

Apparently nine out of every nine experts figure Braddock to have no more than an outside chance escaping an early knockout.

All have conceded Jimmy's improvement, his courage under fire and the intensity of his preparation to achieve the fistic goal of a lifetime.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS ASKED

County Commissioners Make Application On Dog Warden And Other Jobs

The county commissioners today took action toward application to the state civil service commission for an examination for the positions of dog warden, janitor, engineer and fireman at the court house.

The move followed the receipt by the board of a communication from the state commission asking the county to send the commission the civil service payroll, from Feb. 25, for approval.

None of these employees at present is under civil service. C. E. Donahay of Salem, who was relieved of his duties at the first of the year by the commissioners, who subsequently appointed E. H. Sullivan of Leetonia, was under civil service.

Commissioners Clerk C. A. McLaughlin today said that the appointments were "provisional".

In an effort to enroll needy World War veterans for the veteran civilian conservation corps, C. C. Stillman will forward the lists to the veterans bureau in Washington, which will send the necessary application forms to the veterans.

Strike Threatens to Paralyze Coal Industry

Threats of a nation-wide strike in the bituminous coal fields hung over the mining industry as a result of demands of the United Mine Workers of America that they be given contracts to replace the one expiring June 16. Operators have threatened to shut down the mines if a walkout occurs.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers; Senator Joseph Guffey of Pennsylvania, author of the coal stabilization bill, and J. D. A. Morrow, president of the largest coal company in America, are principals in the situation. Miners demand passage of the coal stabilization bill.

SUPREME COURT RULES ON FUNDS

Auto License Money May Be Used For General Expenses

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., June 13.—Financially distressed Ohio municipalities found in a supreme court decision a means of obtaining thousands of dollars in needed revenues today.

Sweeping in its effect, the ruling, gives cities and towns the right to apply funds coming to them from automobile license fees and gasoline taxes for general operating expenses.

Heretofore, except where these levies were earmarked for relief financing—then only recently in connection with tag fees—the revenues were applied for street and highway work.

Uphold Padlock Statute
Legality of the prohibition-day padlock statute and the ban on slot machines and other gaming devices in places dispensing liquor also were upheld by the court yesterday.

The case involving the right to divert the fee and tax funds was returned in favor of the city of Toledo, although no opinion was written by the court.

However, in a recent case where the court upheld the diversion of motor vehicle tag fees for relief purposes, it pointed out that there is no statutory provision specifying the money for street or highway purposes.

A suit to prevent the transfer by the city of Toledo was instituted by Wesley S. Thurston, a taxpayer, who lost in the lower courts of Lucas county and whose appeal was overruled by the state supreme court.

The major cities are expected to benefit most from the ruling as they receive the bulk of the license fees and gasoline tax revenues.

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 13.—Jack Richards, 10, and his brother, Donald, 5, took the rest that tricycle champions deserve today.

They pedaled a squeaky tricycle into Chippewa Lake park 37 miles from here, last night and told their father A. B. Richards, that it had been a long trip and they were hungry.

They also told their father that they made the 37-mile trip because their mother wouldn't let them go to the dentist to have their teeth filled.

River Merry-makers Dance, Yawn, Sing As Fog Plays Trick

GALLIPOLIS, June 13.—Heavy fog blanketed the Ohio river last night, forcing nearly a thousand persons from Gallipolis and other southern Ohio towns to spend the night on the St. Louis excursion steamer J. S. near Point Pleasant.

The fogbound passengers amused themselves with dancing until 3 a. m. when the orchestra members yawned and refused to continue.

Then some couples wandered off to seek seclusion, others played bridge and sang. A few tried to sleep in stateroom chairs, hammocks, and lounges.

Finally the J. S. got under way, and at 9:30 a. m. a sleepy but apparently happy crowd departed here.

Good excuses for lateness were plentiful to many Gallipolis employers.

AUTOS COLLIDE NEAR CANFIELD

Injured Are Taken to Youngstown Hospital; Canton, Youngstown Cars Involved

Several persons were injured when two automobiles collided head-on at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday on Route 224, one mile east of Canfield, the state highway patrol reported today.

The injured were taken to South Side hospital in Youngstown.

Machines being driven by Mrs. Florence Downing of Canton, who was going east, and Joseph Klein, Youngstown, going west, collided.

Mrs. Downing, 38, received a bad cut on her leg and suffered scalp wounds. Her daughter, Maxine, 10, suffered a fractured right arm and scalp lacerations, and Edward S. Smith, 67, also of Canton, had a deep cut across his forehead and abrasions of the face and hands.

Joseph Klein suffered abrasions of the left leg and Stephan Klein, 19, riding with him, suffered lacerations of the scalp and possible internal injuries.

Mahoning county deputy sheriffs also investigated.

STRIKE BRINGS RELIEF PROBLEM

Ohio Rolls Will Swell If Soft Coal Miners Quit

(By Associated Press)
Between 8,000 and 15,000 families will join the Ohio relief rolls if the general strike of soft coal miners called for June 16 takes place and is protracted, an Associated Press survey showed today.

While the state's 30,000 miners worked full speed to bolster production and to create a surplus to carry over in an emergency, county relief directors in the coal districts estimated that from a quarter to a half of the miners in their counties would be forced to seek state aid as the strike progressed.

Athens Problem Serious
The most serious problem impends in Athens county, where more than a third of the population is already on relief. County officials there estimated that another third would be on the rolls if the strike lasts more than two weeks.

Guernsey county estimates indicated that 1,500 of the county's 3,000 miners would be on relief after a month. Belmont county expected 1,500 to be added to the present 1,500 within the same time and another 1,000 after two months. Sixty-five hundred are working there now.

Harrison county with but 50 on relief now looked for an additional nine hundred in event of a protracted strike.

Athens county appropriated $73,000 for June relief—the largest sum since relief was instituted here. Almost 1,300 miners' families are receiving relief aid to supplement their earnings, and 3,200 more are completely on relief. Officials estimated 3,000 more would be on relief two weeks after the strike gets under way.

Norwalk Slump Accentuated
Coshocton county, which now has 160 miners on relief, expects an additional 200 during the first two weeks of the strike and a proportional increase if the strike continues.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Smashing a filibuster which saw Senator Long (D. La.) keep the senate awake all night, Democratic leaders succeeded early today in gaining the chamber's approval of the stop-gap plan to extend a shadow NRA until next April.

The resolution, which now goes to the house for final action, would permit business men to make agreements governing labor conditions and unfair trade practices already prohibited by law.

The vote for the resolution was 41 to 13.

SCHOOL CLINIC PLANNED HERE

Beginning Pupils Asked to Report At High School Next Tuesday Morning

Dr. R. T. Holzbach, city health commissioner, today announced plans for a pre-school clinic, to be held Monday morning, beginning at 8 a. m. at the high school.

The clinic will be conducted by local physicians and dentists.

Parents of all children who will enter school for the first time this fall are asked to take their children for examinations. Where necessary, the examiners will submit to parents recommendations for corrective measures.

Only a few minutes earlier, the senate had smashed down the amendment offered by Senator Gore (D. Okla.) which would have required senate confirmation of all executive officials who draw more than $4,000 a year.

It was in an attempt to avert the defeat of this amendment that Senator Long, aided in the final stages of the fight by the blind Senator Schall (R. Minn.) and Senator McCarran (D. Nev.) had talked nearly 6 hours, beginning at 12:20 p. m. yesterday.

The senate then adjourned at 6:21 a. m. Eastern Standard time, after first deciding that when it meets again on Friday the social security measure, a major item in the Roosevelt program, will be debated.

Before the heavy-lidded senators had raised their voices in a chorus of "yes" to jam through the plan, Senator Borah (R. Idaho) had offered an amendment to tighten up the anti-trust laws. This was adopted also without a record vote.

As Senator Pittman (D. Nev.) who was temporarily presiding, announced the adjournment, the tagged senators struggled off to breakfast and to bed.

Long Gives Up
The big break had come shortly before 4 a. m. when Long finally gave up, broken by his long discourse that covered everything from the constitution to the way to steal a guinea hen's eggs. He was forced down before a group of new Democratic senators who served notice they were out to break his "control" of the senate.

In its final shape, the NRA resolution would continue the recovery administration in ghostly form, without codes, but with authority for voluntary agreements among business men dealing only with collective bargaining, minimum wages, maximum hours, abolition of child labor and prohibition of trade practices already outlawed by statute.

The tally showed one Republican, Norris, of Nebraska, joining with 39 Democrats and LaFollette, the lone Progressive, to approve the extension resolution. Nine Republicans and four Democrats opposed it.

The Borah amendment would specifically write into the law that trade practices agreed upon under voluntary codes should not be in violation of the anti-trust laws.

In the quick shift of speakers, there was much parliamentary wrangling and maneuvering, but out of it Senator Schall emerged with permission to have the clerk read a speech attacking the "little Richbergs" of the administration. It

ACT TO RETAIN RECOVERY ACT

Ohio Unit Planning Voluntary Agreements For Industry

COLUMBUS, June 13.—A resuscitator was used on the Ohio Recovery Act today.

Declared dead in a supreme court decision, the eagle of the late NRA lay stretched out before ORA officials who sought to set up voluntary agreements among business to replace defunct codes.

Anticipating such a verdict, they had planned this action for several weeks to forestall any radical changes in the state's labor picture by firms desiring to cut wages and increasing hours.

Voluntary agreements to cover minimum wages, maximum hours, prohibition of child labor and unfair competition practices were prepared for the protection of hundreds of thousands of workers.

Enforcement of codes in the state was immediately suspended after the court announced its decision, based on the U. S. supreme court's "execution" of the NRA two weeks ago.

Nevertheless, R. J. Hole, acting ORA administrator, said that the state organization comprising about 15 employees would remain intact pending alterations in procedure.

Unlabeled delegation of powers was cited in a journal entry of the court, which ruled on test cases from Toledo and Cincinnati involving price-fixing, hours and wages.

This was the main point brought out in the U. S. court's decision, which wrecked the entire code structure of the nation. Approximately 700 ORA codes were affected.

Several industries have indicated their willingness to work under voluntary agreements, said Hole, who added "we feel that the relation of the Ohio Recovery Act to the United States is becoming of increasing importance."

First To Organize

Ohio was the first state to set up a code-forming and enforcing body after the NRA was created two years ago and Governor Davey only last week signed a bill extending its life to coincide with the NRA, but no longer than April 1, 1936.

Between 200,000 and 300,000 firms in Ohio have been operating under codes, administration officials said.

The Toledo case, in which the appellate court had held the ORA unconstitutional, was instituted against Edward Dusha, doing business as the City Coal company. After his victory in the lower courts, the ORA appealed the case.

ON THE FACE OF IT

The United States, which assumes that Germany's young men who drill in military formations with shovels instead of guns are really part of Chancellor Hitler's army, probably has made the impression abroad with its CCC camps. It will not be easy to explain why $28,750 additional men will be enrolled in the CCC between June 15 and Aug. 1.

The additional enrollment will make a total of 600,000 men in the CCC. Fifty-five thousand of them will be war veterans. The camps are under the supervision of army officers. The routine resembles that followed in regular army camps. Members of the CCC are equipped with uniform clothing. Americans may believe there is no military connection, but what do their neighbors believe?

Laying pretense aside, who can deny the military possibilities of regimenting almost a third of a million men in government camps? Even granting there is no official intention of using the CCC as an adjunct of the army, the appearance of the intention is still there. Germany's marching young men are not much different, aside from the avowed purpose of their retraining to restore the fatherland's military glory.

The CCC is manifestly an outgrowth of the federal government's relief policy. It was introduced as such in President Roosevelt's campaign and it has been developed for that purpose. Nevertheless, it bears a close resemblance to the same kind of ability training which in Europe is hailed as a detail of preparedness. There is little use for Americans to deny that resemblance as long as they express alarm over the regimentation of youth in other countries.

A MEASURE OF TURBULENCE

An interesting method of measuring turbulence in national affairs is suggested by the number of supreme court opinions unfavorable to congressional enactments in various periods of American history.

During the first 70 years, from 1789 to 1859, the court overruled congressional acts only twice, the Marbury v. Madison decision and the Dred Scott decision. During the next nine years, congressional acts were held unconstitutional four times, and during the nine years from 1870 to 1879 the court overruled congress nine times.

In the following 20 years, up to the beginning of the 20th century, there were 10 occasions when opinions of unconstitutionality were given. From 1900 to 1920, congress was brought into line with the Constitution 16 times. In the 10-year period following the World war, however, there were 19 decisions against congressional enactments.

In the last two years of Herbert Hoover's administration the supreme court returned three opinions holding laws unconstitutional. During the period from 1933 to 1935, seven unfavorable opinions have been given. At that rate, the total for the decade would be greater than that for the turbulent period from 1920 to 1930.

All together, 59 acts and resolutions of congress have been held unconstitutional in whole or in part by the supreme court. That is a remarkably low figure, compared with the 2406 public acts and resolutions produced by congress in 146 years. Certainly, it does not support the contention which has been voiced recently that the supreme court acts as a tyrant over congress.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, June 12—Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery but it often proves disastrous to amusement originators. A shining example is the eclipse of Helen Kane. Her petulant boss-coo-a-dooping jumped her out of obscurity into a four figure weekly salary.

She packed movie stage shows and musical comedies as no other performer of her day. Then came a flood of imitators on the stage, screen and radio. So excellently done her act seemed an easy accomplishment. In a movie cartoon suit she brought, the defendant showed a half hundred girls could do her trick.

Then there was Joe Penner's goofy ging-gang-goo. He shot up to a salary of five figures and is still in demand but only moderately so. There was scarcely a radio program without a pseudo Penner and it got pretty tiresome. Joe Frisco has so many imitators he's almost constantly at liberty.

Too, there is the husky voiced dramatic actress Lenore Ulric missing from the boards too long. There was a time when every vaudeville mimic impersonated her. But the most conspicuous suffocation by imitation was Eva Tanguay. At one time 200 performers were essaying her jittery twists.

I had a moment of horror along the west drive of Central Park yesterday I never want to experience again. A golden haired rose-bud toddling after her nurse, suddenly turned toward the maelstrom of traffic in the roadway. In a flash she was paddling to what looked instant doom. One car with a mighty shriek of brakes and quick turn missed her by an eyelash but others were bearing down. There were despairing screams and hasty prayers. Shesaped, miraculously. A bright strip of tin-foil had attracted her.

New York is called the world's best shod city. In the crowded centers are often two and three shoe shops to a block. Many resplendent stores on the Bowery and Grand street are shoe retailers. Members of the amusement profession are particularly meticulous about footwear. Jane Cowl is reputed to buy a dozen pairs at a crack. Damon Runyon's chief extravagance is shoes, which he wears a few times and passes on to his pal, Hype Igoe. Irving Brokaw, one of the better dressed men, keeps sixty pairs in his wardrobe at all times. William Goadby Loew is another shoe spendthrift.

Then the necktie splurgers. Adolph Zukor has at times bought 2,000 at a crack. They are his favorite gift to employees on returning European trips. Clarence MacKay at one time was also a heavy cravat customer. And Vernon Castle, at the peak of his dance reign, had designs for scarves never duplicated in America especially made by a silk concern in Lyons. Flo Ziegfeld bought ties by the several dozen every month or so. At his passing he had more than a thousand that had never been worn. Bert Williams once bought every tie in a window at Sulka's.

Some summers ago, I dropped into Charvet's in Paris to select ties. My usual Scot wariness succumbed to what I thought was a reckless fever of buying. I had pushed aside more than a dozen. But the clerk seemed knee deep in yawning boredom at my spurt of extravagance. In waiting for change I learned from him that he had just waited on Charles G. Norris, who had selected 500 ties. I walked out, passing under a footstool without scraping my hat.

The celebrated sound proof three-storied house of the elder Joseph Pulitzer in E 79th street is now a continental apartment house with inner gardens, massive iron wrought entrances and foreign looking valets de chambre with brass buttoned ticking vests and green aprons. The blind publisher built the mansion during the nerve tortured years when the slightest jar or sound imposed agony. So much so he fled finally and permanently to roam the seven seas in his palatial yacht until the end. His son Ralph's home next door has also been sold. The original home is pitched into one and six room apartments. Among the first tenants was the explorer Roy Chapman Andrews.

THE STARS SAY

For Friday, June 14

According to the prevailing planetary configurations, this should prove to be a fairly active and successful day, with much depending on personal initiative and good judgment. This will include restraint from strife, arguments and unwise discussion which may precipitate disagreeable situations and enduring regret. Also there is a menace of slander, malicious gossip and duplicity to guard against.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year in which there are many auspicious signs, although much depends on personal acumen and good judgment. This involves putting a firm curb on tongue and temper, as quarrels and impetuosity may provoke malicious reprisals. With care and restraint there should be progress and prosperity.

A child born on this day will be of versatile talents, of determination and industry. Its proclivity to strife, impetuosity and unguarded speech should be dealt with in youth.

Notable nativity: John McCormack, Irish tenor.

THEIR WORD IS THE LAW

No. 3 of a series

For a whole day back in 1916, Charles Evans Hughes and most of the persons in the United States thought he had been elected President. He had resigned as associate justice of the Supreme Court to be the Republican nominee, and if his managers hadn't affronted Hiram Johnson, Hughes would have been elected. Another Californian, Hoover, made amends by putting him back in the Supreme Court five years ago as Chief Justice. He is 73, and has been married for 47 years. Mrs. Hughes is above. Three of their children are alive.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

Obesity May Cause Poor Health

A CHILL WHC is decidedly overweight is apt to be the subject of ridicule. He is known to his playmates as "Fatty" and a lot of fun is had at his expense. The law of compensation helps the fat children because they usually have a happy disposition and accept the jesting in good nature. But as the child grows older he becomes more sensitive.

Unfortunately, many parents can side plumpness a sign of good health and proper nourishment. Overweight in a child, as in the adult, is susceptible to infections of the upper air passages, and too often develops some constitutional defect.

May Be Gland Trouble

The sudden taking on of weight during childhood is sometimes due to a glandular disturbance. Such children may be the victims of an abnormally low thyroid supply. Young girls of this type may be suffering from other glandular disturbances. Boys of the same age may also be affected by some gland trouble. There should be a suspicion of a glandular disturbance in every case where weight continues to increase despite the restriction of food.

Often the underlying cause of overweight in a child is lack of exercise and overindulgence in rich and starchy foods. Most children have good appetites and, if permitted to do so, will eat at all times of the day. The indulgent parent finds it difficult to refuse a child food, but every effort should be made to regulate his meals and avoid having him eat between meals. This is especially important for those children who show a tendency toward overweight.

Seek Medical Care

The child who weighs too much should receive a careful medical examination. If there are found signs of a glandular disturbance, the necessary medication will be prescribed and administered by the physician.

It is always a good plan to have an urinalysis. Obese children often show traces of sugar in the urine. As a rule this is accounted for by the excessive amount of carbohydrates and starches included in the diet. It does not in reality indicate diabetes, but is spoken of by the doctors as a "temporary glycosuria." When diet restrictions are enforced the sugar disappears.

The obese child should be taught the importance of supervised and regular exercise. This must not be too fatiguing or excessive. It should be taken in such a manner as to keep the weight down without harming the body. In most instances careful supervision of the diet and daily exercise are sufficient to curtail excessive accumulations of fat.

SAYS NEW LAXATIVE BREAD HELPED MOTHER AND SELF AFTER YEARS OF CONSTIPATION

PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD . . . Is Helping Our Trouble Greatly" — Says Mrs. W. S. Strong of Indianapolis, Ind.

"My mother and I have been bothered with constipation for years," writes Mrs. W. S. Strong. However, since using PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD, at the rate of a loaf a day, we find that it is helping our trouble greatly. The whole family is now eating PRUN-O-WHEAT, too, because they like its taste as well as for its laxative qualities."

PRUNE-O-WHEAT BREAD contains nutritious and regulative properties which are missing from so many of the modern, highly refined foods we eat daily. Though it would be a white loaf if it were not for the concentrated prune juice which is added, it makes an ideal regulative food to supplement the daily diet. Remarkably enough, though, it contains generous amount of prune juice with its well-known effect. It doesn't taste of prunes. But DOES make the most delicious toast you ever tasted as those who testify!

TRY 14-DAY TEST

Eat PRUN-O-WHEAT BREAD whenever you like for its fruit nut-like flavor. . . . BUT you must eat it regularly, a few slices each meal, to enjoy its gentle but definite laxative benefits. Try for 14 days . . . the results will amaze you. Order a loaf from your grocer and start today.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brishane

CHICAGO reports the most cruel, cold-blooded murder of the week. Cecilia Venable, red-haired night club entertainer aged 27, registered at a hotel as Mrs. J. Williams. Awakened at daylight by a gunman who had forced the clerk to take her to the room and open it, she asked, after he had slapped her face brutally: "Tony, how did you get in here?"

His answer was: "Why did you get out on me last night?" "I didn't want to go with you," the woman said. "I haven't got anything you want, and you haven't got anything that I want."

Tony, drawing a pistol, said, "but I've got something here you're going to get," and fired several bullets into her body as she pulled the sheet over her face. When all the bullets were fired the unfortunate woman lay dead, moaning, "you've hurt me. Please, please, don't shoot. Please, please, don't shoot."

Tony ejected the used shells, reloaded the pistol, fired four more bullets into her body and left her dead.

Who can understand such horrible brutality and, why is there any legislation about eliminating permanently all criminals of this kind?

Tony is arrested with some weeping parole board let him go after six months?

Waley, the Weyerhaeuser kidnaper, caught after he sent his wife like a true gangster coward, to change ransom bills for him, has his record.

He had been arrested six times beginning at 18 and sentenced to terms in prison that would have kept him in prison for 75 years if parole boards had allowed it.

He was repeatedly released until last, thoroughly trained in crime and convinced probably, as he might well be, that American justice is a mere joke, he went to Tacoma, and planned, there, the "catch," as criminals call it, of the Weyerhaeuser child.

Mahan, another kidnaper, who abandoned more than $15,000 of the ransom money, fled and is now hunted by government agents, was convicted, paroled, convicted again, and again released, is wanted for many crimes.

Highway patrolmen in the western states did admirable work co-operating with the "G-men." The western highway patrolmen are real policemen.

The national government will not be able to execute the Weyerhaeuser kidnaper under the "Lindbergh law" because the Weyerhaeuser boy was not taken out of the state in which he was captured.

However that state provides death as the penalty for kidnapping, and the state of Washington will probably impress on these kidnappers and others that Washington is a dangerous state in which to operate.

Waley, who says he divided the ransom money with Mahan, and was "short-changed" to the tune of $5,000, got about half, and had only spent $300 when his wife was caught, thanks to the quick wit of Eddythe Morley, and Marion Samuel, two girls employed in a Salt Lake City store.

That "hot" ransom money did not do for Mr. Waley, the wonderful things that he expected. He spent only $300, in fear of arrest, and for that, he will probably pay with his life.

Mr. Vincent Astor of New York City has bought in, and will operate the St. Regis hotel on Fifth ave., built originally with Astor money now repurchased for $5,000,000.

An Astor running a hotel is nothing new. You need not be very old to remember the gray granite Astor house a block long almost opposite the City hall on lower Broadway, where they had roast beef such as you find nowhere now. Before prosperous Americans learned to be really "aristocratic" with yachts, race horses, and divorces, they thought owning a hotel and putting your name on it was almost aristocratic. The Astor house and the Brevort house in New York, the Palmer house in Chicago, the Coates house in Kansas City, a thousand others prove it.

Louis Kissell, 80 years old, who fought in the Franco-Prussian war 65 years ago, was attacked by a robber who struck him down with a club. Mr. Kissell got up, beat that robber severely, pursued him down the street.

When reporters wanted to take a picture, Mr. Kissell asked: "What's all this nonsense for? It was nothing. I am strong. I drink mine own wine." He makes the wine himself, from grapes.

Louis Kissell says Von Hindenburg was a great man, and he looks like Von Hindenburg. France and Germany have many men, strong in old age that "drink their own wine."

The grandfather of Henry IV gave a sp of brandy, a strong brandy, and rubbed garlic in his nose the day the royal baby was born. Imagine that. He gave the mother, his daughter, a gold box filled with jewels, saying: "This is for you," took the baby, saying, "and this is for me."

"Grass-roots", alias the earnest new Republican party gathered at Springfield, Ill., seem to think it favorable to borrow from the Democratic donkey, and apply a few buckets to poor old harrassed plutocracy.

The temporary chairman of the "grass-roots", Mr. Spangler of Cedar Rapids, horrified at the plethora of Democratic political funds, says Mr. Farley gets them from the "swollen fortunes of the wealthy."

Those fortunes are not as badly swollen as they used to be. And anyhow, Mr. Farley could reasonably reply that he could not get campaign contributions from the 12,000,000 unemployed.

Walter L. Abernathy, 72, inset, retired business man of Kansas City, charged with assault to kill, was released on a $7,500 bond following the shooting of Vane Wilkinson, whose wife, above, told police Abernathy tried to force her to do a strip dance. Wilkinson was given an even chance to recover after six bullets were removed from his body.

Christian Endeavorers Rally At St. Jacob's Church Tonight

Rev. Klingaman To Conduct Camp Fire Service; Prosecutor George Lafferty To Speak

LISBON, June 13.—The Columbus County Christian Endeavor rally will be held at St. Jacob's Reformed church, Salem township, Thursday evening, the campfire service being in charge of the Rev. R. H. Klingaman, pastor of this church.

The guest speaker will be Prosecuting Attorney George L. Lafferty, who was formerly president of this county group.

Following the church meeting, a wiener roast will be featured. Both Christian Endeavorers and non-members participate.

Plan Reunion
The annual reunion of the Patterson-Rice families will be held next Sunday at the county fair grounds. Following dinner at noon, officers for the next season will be elected.

Invitations have been received here by all county officials to attend the annual festival at Homeworth Friday evening, sponsored by the volunteer fire department of the village. The event is in charge of a committee headed by Harry H. Heffner, who is at the head of the department.

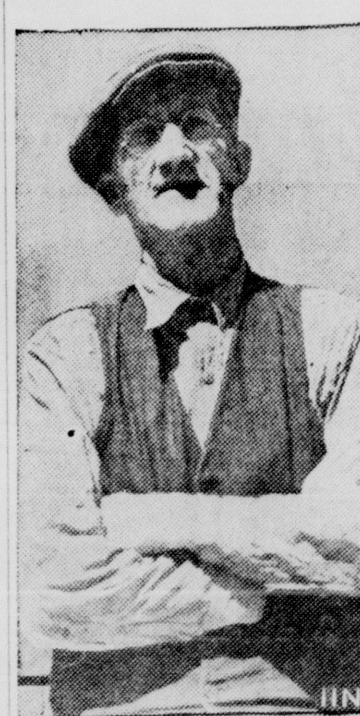

Miss Jessie Neill has left for Chicago, Ill., where she will visit relatives, after which she will continue to Hastings, Neb., to visit at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Woolery.

After visiting here for several weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Arter, Mrs. Frances Isley has returned to her home in Chicago, Ill.

Dolores Rogan is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweeney at Akron for several weeks.

After visiting friends at Hollday's Cove, W. Va., Mrs. Rose Riley has returned to her home here.

Kin to Kidnapers

Julius Thulin

Federal agents were aided in their search for Mrs. Margaret Waley and her husband, held in connection with the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping, by Julius Thulin, above, 71-year-old grandfather of Mrs. Waley. Thulin's home in Utah was used as a meeting place by the Waleys and William Mahan.

Zanesville Church Scene Of Wedding

James Grafton, Salem, Is Married to Miss Beatrice Roll

Announcement has been made here of the marriage of Miss Beatrice Roll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roll, Sr., of Zanesville and James Grafton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Grafton, of South Lancaster. The wedding was an event of June 3 in St. Nicholas church, Zanesville, Rev. Fr. Joseph Bender officiating at the 6:30 a. m. ceremony.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white satin made on soft clinging lines with long sleeves of white net. Her veil of white tulle, forming a train, was fastened at the head with a cap of white lace. Her bouquet was a shower of lilies.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Susan Vaseo, wore a gown of pink lace with pink accessories and her flowers were roses. Herbert Roll, Jr., brother of the bride, was best man.

A breakfast at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The table centerpiece was a large wedding cake and floral decorations were pink.

Mr. and Mrs. Grafton left for a short trip and will go to Maine where they will make their home. The bride is a graduate of St. Nicholas high school and School of Nursing at the Good Samaritan hospital. Mr. Grafton, who has been residing at Memphis, Tenn., is a surveyor with the U. S. engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Grafton, parents of the groom, daughter Anne and son, William, attended the wedding.

Honor Bride-Elect At Shower

Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith of Albany was honored at a delightful shower given for her by her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Joseph Brobender, at her home on Sharp ave. last night. Between 40 and 50 friends and relatives were present. Miss Smith, whose wedding to William Brobender will be an event of the near future, received many lovely gifts.

A buffet lunch was served and the evening spent informally with games and music. Harold Hopperich entertained with piano selections. Out of town guests were from Cleveland, Alliance and Struthers.

Mrs. Miller Heads Church Unit

Church R. R. Miller was elected president of the Methodist Women's organization yesterday at a meeting at the church. Vice president for next year will be Mrs. Frank Stoldt; secretary, Mrs. T. E. Miller; treasurer, Mrs. Eva McNeelan; flower superintendent, Mrs. J. L. Culp.

A delightful covered dinner preceded the business session, the luncheon being served at 1 p. m. Mrs. R. E. Apple was in charge of the devotions yesterday. Miss Dorothy McCommer entertained with piano selections.

Youngstown Flower Show Success

Reports of the Youngstown Flower show last week made Wednesday at the meeting of the Youngstown Garden Forum, of which the Salem Garden club is a member, showed that between 8,000 and 9,000 adult tickets were sold for the three days' exhibit and that the event was a greater success than executives had hoped. Definite reports will be made later.

Melvin Wyant of Mentor, rose specialist, addressed members of the Forum on the care and growing of roses, exhibiting some specimens of the rarer varieties.

A dinner for all members of Garden clubs who helped in the Flower show will be held at the Youngstown Country club Friday night. Reservations should be made before Friday for the affair with Mrs. Thigg, Parmelee ave., Youngstown.

The Forum will not meet in August, it was announced. The next meeting of the Forum, July 10, will be held at the Butler Art Museum in Youngstown with the members of the Salem Garden club acting as hostesses.

The next meeting of the Salem Garden club on July 22 will be an outside meeting, the place to be announced later.

Eight O'Clock Club Is Entertained

Three tables of "500" were in play last night when Miss Clara Barber was hostess to associates of the Eight O'clock club at her home on Cleveland st. High score winner was Mrs. William Drotleff, a guest.

Mrs. Lewis Stankhouse and Miss Mildred Barber were also guests of the club.

The group will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Odis Flick on East State st. at the next meeting.

Junior Handies 4-H Club Meets

Demonstrations in the making of cake frostings were given by Mrs. M. S. Schnell, advisor of the Junior handies 4-H club, when the group met at the Schnell home, R. D. 4 Tuesday afternoon.

Following the meeting the hostess served a lovely lunch.

The club will meet again June 20.

Three Links Club Plans Outing

At a special meeting of the Three Links social club of the Odd Fellows Tuesday it was decided to hold the annual picnic Sunday, June 30, at Rose Garden park, one mile west of Bayard on route 30.

The covered supper for June 24 has been cancelled.

Dames of Malta Give Party

Prizes were won by Harvey Mercer of Sebring and Mrs. Jesse Shepherd at the card party given by the Dames of Malta last night after the regular meeting in Macrae hall on State st.

Following the meeting in two weeks there will be another public card party.

Miss Verna O'Neill To Be Hostess

Miss Verna Gail O'Neill will be hostess to members of the Standard Bearers of the Methodist church this evening at her home, 1089 Franklin st.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foltz and two children of East State st. left yesterday on a motor trip to California to visit relatives. They plan to stop at Chicago and Denver to visit relatives there, the trip to take about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Benzingner of East State st. and two daughters, Dorothy and Barbara, have returned from Sweet Briar college in Virginia. The Misses Benzingner were awarded diplomas at graduation exercises Tuesday.

SENATE HALTS LONG'S TIRADE

Huey Quits After 16 Hours and Shadow NRA Is O.K.'d

was a huge manuscript, and the Senators settled down for a long siege.

McCarran Takes Floor

Even when the Schall speech was concluded, the filibuster did not end. Senator McCarran, who had helped Long get bits of rest for his vocal cords by asking him lengthy, involved questions, took the floor to move that the social security bill be taken up in place of NRA. McCarran then began to speak on that motion.

Previously, when Schall, a bitter critic of the President, got the floor, Long went outside and posed for photographs, but a few minutes later he was back, sprawled in a chair near Schall, advising him how to proceed.

Just before the Louisianaan got his relief, he had told the administration leaders, in a voice that resembled a creak, that he would continue indefinitely the speech he began at 12:20 p. m. yesterday.

Around him sat angry Democratic leaders, heavy-lidded and exhausted, but expressing determination to shatter Long's "control" over the senate by blocking a recess until he dropped or cried "quits."

Long's speech, veteran Senators said, was by far the record for physical endurance of its kind. Other filibusters had lasted longer, but they had been waged by a group of senators or by one senator with rest periods.

Lectures on Cookery

Long's wandering discourse roamed from the correct way to wash turnip greens through reading from the Bible and Victor Hugo to a long short story about how Vice President Garner "shot a deer from a tree and fell out of the tree." He lectured the senate on the constitution and the art of cookery.

To the galleries Long's filibuster was a show vying with the shrine parades, now enthralling the capital. A large crowd stayed awake all night to watch the Louisianaan and make bets as to how long he could last.

Among the most determined to wear Long down so that he would be silent for a long time were five "freshmen" senators sitting in the back row. Their spokesman, Senator Schevelbach (D. Wash.) said they were tired of "seeing every effort to improve the welfare of the country blocked and stifled by the senator from Louisiana."

"I want to say that we shall sit here from now on to stop the senator from controlling this senate," he said.

To all such remarks Long only pleaded, mockingly, no senator should leave the room "because this is the greatest speech ever made."

Long's Cheese Stink

Occasionally, he drank milk and cold coffee and cheese off a plate until some senator, surreptitiously scooped up the remaining cheese and ate it himself.

Hair tousled, arms waving in his usual manner, Long attacked President Roosevelt for saying the supreme court's decision abolishing NRA codes carried the country back to the "horse and buggy" days. He accused the administration of taking the senate's powers.

"Where is the courage of the United States senate?" he demanded. "I am speaking here from the seat of John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina. Where has the merit and logic and courage of Calhoun and Webster gone?"

"If a man came in here and took the clothes off the senator from Kentucky (Barkley), I would expect him to do something about it. But they've come in here and undressed the whole United States senate. We haven't got any powers left. We are unemployed and we don't know it."

Then he launched into a paean in praise of his uncle—the "best man who ever blinked." Long said he was so clever he could teach bartenders how to mix drinks.

Long called the NRA "the national racketeers' association" and the "new Roosevelt agency," read the anti-trust section of the Democratic national platform for 1932, picked up the Bible and quoted "a good name is better than possessions."

Compares With Guinea Iens. "A good name is all the Democratic party had then," he said, referring to the 1932 convention.

"I used all its capital stock in making promises to the people of what we were going to do."

Then he went on to compare the senate with a guinea hen.

"A guinea hen can smell the human hand and won't go back to lay in a nest robbed by a human hand. So, they take a guinea hen's eggs out with a long handle spoon."

"As long as you take preposterous out from under the senate with a long handle spoon, the senators think everything is all right. They have taken every egg."

the senate had to hatch away from it by a long-handle spoon.

Once Senator Barkley suggested that Long leave off speaking and sing.

"When I sing," Long said, "it will be for somebody who is better looking than the senator from Kentucky."

A colleague told Long he was "as popular as a cuckoo clock in a boy's dormitory at 3 a. m." and at another Senator Minton (D. Ind.) suggested that Long shouldn't talk so loud because "there are a lot of senators asleep around here."

"I'm sorry I woke up the senator from Indiana," Long said. "The senate would have been better off if he remained asleep."

The NRA resolution goes to the house today, and quick passage there is anticipated by administration leaders.

bootlegging establishments is applicable to enforcement of the present liquor law, the court held by affirming the lower courts of Fairfield county.

Charged by the city of Lancaster with maintaining a nuisance, the Stone Grill company was padlocked. After the lower courts upheld the padlock order, the company took the case to the high tribunal where it was refused a review.

The court also refused to review a decision of the lower courts of Franklin county, which held that rule 48 barring slot machines and gaming devices as specified by the liquor control department was lawful.

Ray A. Norwood representing the Skill Game Association of Ohio contended before the court that the rule interfered with the company's business and was unconstitutional.

Former liquor Director John Hughes set up an order, which provided that liquor permits of violators either would be revoked or not renewed.

Flatfoot Elevated To Magistrate Job

NEW YORK, June 13—It was Decoration day for police heroes and high officials were there to do them honor.

Police Commissioner Valentine interrupted the proceedings to read a general order: "Second Deputy Police Commissioner Vincent J. Sweeney is relieved of all duties on July 9 and will report to the mayor."

Sweeney had risen from the ranks, had even studied law to better his fine police record. The order was a shock to the department. Then Mayor LaGuardia arose with a grin and added: "And on July 9, I will appoint Mr. Sweeney a city magistrate."

The new job will pay the former flatfoot $12,000 a year.

Canton Youth Dies Because of Height

CANTON, June 13 — Charles Lerch, 21, was dead today because he was six feet, six inches tall. Lerch, employed at the Tunkin Roller Bearing Co., leaned over a high gate of an elevator shaft this morning to see if the lift was coming up. Instead it was coming down and caught his head between the elevator floor and the gate, breaking his neck.

Had Lerch been of ordinary stature, T. C. McQuate reported, he could not have looked over the gate.

CARING FOR LUGGAGE NEEDS

BE CAREFUL of suitcases, trunks and hat boxes and they will give you plenty of service.

If leather cases have been put away for the winter and you've just taken them out of their storage places for use on a weekend or vacation, please give them a little attention before starting to pack. Dust cases carefully inside as well as on the outside. Take a little polishing cream and wipe over the leather.

Leather gives so much better service if attention is given to its care. To freshen up a leather trunk it is a good idea to rub linseed oil well into the leather. Look at the locks. A drop of oil will prevent them from sticking and as baggage is often exposed to the rain, oil will guard against rust. The same goes when the trunks are put in storage again.

Avoid Substitutes

To clean pig-skin or lizard, it is best to purchase special preparations made for these leathers that are so popular for luggage these days. Don't try any substitutes, unless an authority says so. Suede and similar fancy leathers now used for small dressing cases may be rubbed lightly with a clean chamois leather or an ink eraser. If very badly stained, use benzine carefully and sparingly and rub up the pile or suede with piece of fine sandpaper.

If the corners of dressing bags are beginning to show the least bit of wear, have them repaired at once. If small bags such as dressing bags have no covers, have some made. They won't be expensive and it will be much to keep the luggage in good condition, especially if it is made of a fine or light-colored leather.

Luggage of composition or fiber is very popular and needs just as much attention as finer leather. Clean them by sponging with water to which has been added a little vinegar. Dry thoroughly with a floor polish.

To soften leather straps that become hard and unpliant, place them in a bath of warm, soapy water, let them soak for some time, dry thoroughly and rub over with a little linseed oil. To clean handbags of white pig-skin or lizard, smear them with a good shoe cream, white, of course. Then polish with a velvet pad. Darker shades of these skins can be cleaned with a matching color cream.

NATION-WIDE MOVEMENT TO DISCARD CATHARTICS IN FAVOR OF NEW BREAD

New Honey Krushed Wheat Bread Replaces Purges and Laxatives for Constipation Relief, Says Lembright Baking Company

The nation-wide ailment today, one that annoys if it does not lead to genuine illness, is constipation. It has been estimated that one in every family, two in every ten people in these United States, are troubled with faulty elimination. A sluggish feeling, lassitude, lack of ambition, dull headaches and frequently serious illness result when food remains in the system, undigested, clogging the intestines. Then is when a stimulation of the gastric secretions is necessary.

Honey Krushed Wheat Bread contains those helpful ingredients that give the organic system a natural urge. And the reason is simple. Combined with the tissue-building healthful vitamins that pep you up, are two of nature's most common products—wheat and honey. Both come from the broad fields, the wheat and the blooms spring from the earth. Man gathers the grain of one, the busy bee the essence of the other. Then, by man's industry and ingenuity, through the patient experiments of an experienced baker, the right combination was found; with a Professor of Pharmacy at a noted University, working with expert bakers, this formula was discovered; perfected by workmen skilled in oven products. It was secured and is controlled exclusively by Honey Krushed Wheat Bread.

Honey Krushed Wheat Bread, the easily remembered name of the household staple that should be on every family's table, three times every day. Quit taking habit-forming drugs for constipation. Change over to Honey Krushed Bread if you are troubled with bowel and stomach disorders or lack your old time pep. It relieves constipation the correct way by supplying your diet with the necessary roughage. It is baked by using a secret process endorsed by leading physicians.

Make This Ten-Day Test

Try eating Honey Krushed Wheat Bread for just ten days. Before you know it the poison that have accumulated in your intestines will vanish, you will feel like a new person and your elimination will be greatly improved. Then KEEP WELL by eating it every meal!

Be sure to get the original Honey Krushed Wheat Bread, sliced and cellophane wrapped. It has a liberal extra coating of crushed wheat upon the outer crust and a red and yellow wrapper around the loaf—Adv.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, June 13.—Material new downings of grain values took place early today. Bearish factors included domestic wheat operations southwest with persistent notice taken of the Canadian wheat surplus as a menace to stability of prices. Opening 1/4-7/8 off, July 80%- 1/2 wheat soon dropped further.
Corn started 3/4-3/8 down.

613,760.39; customs receipts for the month $11,218,097.08.

Coal Loadings
CLEVELAND, June 13.—Leading of bituminous coal into lake vessels for the season up to June 9 amounted to 9,462,131 tons, as compared to 8,179,407 tons for the same period last year, the coal and ore exchange reported today.

Funds Recommended
Those favoring construction of the canal, either in part or all the way to Lake Erie, expressed the opinion congressional action would not necessarily hinder construction out of works relief funds.

Already, the works allotment board has recommended $5,000,000 to begin work on the Struthers-Beaver section. This recommendation still lies on President Roosevelt's desk, awaiting his signature despite verbal sanction the president gave to all allotment board recommendations at the meeting at which the canal sum was approved.

It has been said the president would refrain from affixing his signature to the canal proposal until congress acts.

The house approved the omnibus rivers and harbors bill authorizing construction of the partial canal.
The senate commerce committee accepted Guffey's amendment so that such authorization would be for the Lake Erie to Ohio River canal. Senator A. V. Demaree (D, Ohio) a committee member, dissented.

The cost of the canal as far as Struthers has been estimated at $37,000,000 plus $10,000,000 for local damages. The 100-mile waterway as proposed in the Guffey amendment would cost approximately $10,000,000.

Liquor Supervisor

POISONED BRAN ENDS CUT WORM

Here Are Instructions
For Fighting Garden Destroyer

The pesky cut worm is sharpening its teeth, or his saws or razors or whatever he uses to whittle down choice young vegetables, to blight
the hopes of ambitious gardeners.

The cut worm is one of the principal enemies of the garden worker, but there is a way to fight him. The department of agriculture says to feed him some delicious orange or lemon, with sirup and water—plus a dose of arsenic or paris green.

For the benefit of gardeners who will probably be afflicted with the insect, the department of agriculture instructions for controlling the cut worm, by feeding him with a poisoned bran mash, are printed hereafter.

Here are the ingredients: (For small gardens) bran, one quart;
paris green or white arsenic, one level tablespoon; ground orange or lemon, one-half; sirup, two tablespoons; water, one pint.

For one acre of ground, use the following measurements, respectively: five pounds, one-fourth pound;
two, one pint; three quarts.

Mix the bran and the paris green
dry. Stir the sirup and finely ground fruit into the water. Pour the sweetened liquid over the poisoned bran and mix thoroughly.

Scatter the mixture thinly where the insects are feeding. Apply in evening or early morning for grasshoppers; these insects die slowly after feeding. Apply in evenings for cutworms; just as effective for cutworms if placed in small piles under pieces of board or bark. Repeat in three days if necessary.
Keep the mixture away from chickens.

Relief Appointments Required Under New Ruling From State

LISBON, June 13.—Applicants for the county relief will be forced to make appointments with Chester Kridler, "bake clerk," at the county relief offices, after June 17. It was announced here today. The ruling applies to all new applicants as well as those who have had their cases closed due to private employment.

With the exception of Saturday, interview will be held daily between 9 and 12 in the morning and between 1 and 3.30 in the afternoon. All clients will be received in a private office provided for such conferences.

It has also been announced that clients will not receive immediate relief when requested.

As a result of definite instructions received at the county relief offices here from Columbus, all applicants for relief must first make an appointment for an interview, either by telephone or at the information desk in the relief office. All cases will be investigated before relief is extended, the only exceptions to this ruling being rare emergencies.

The relief administration has announced that this method of receiving applicants is more fair to both the client as well as the administration, as many people receive relief who are not eligible due to hurried and professed emergency.

time. Critics and fans alike have had their imagination captured by Braddock's uphill battle to achieve the heavyweight heights.

Perhaps it would be a miracle for Braddock to win, but it's been done by long-shots in every sport. Even Man-O-War was beaten once. Sam Parks, a 50 to 1 shot, came through to capture the national open golf crown only last week.

Braddock can win, therefore, but with what? Raw courage alone can't save him from the champion's withering blasts. The roar of the crowd can't keep him on his feet if he runs into Baer's bombardment too often.

The challenger's only chance, it seems, depends upon an unexpected opening early in the fight of a flash of carelessness by the champion. They both have the same weapons but Baer's are the sharpest and most explosive.

Champ Has Power

The champion won't have the crowd with him—unless they are yelling "for the kill" after the fashion typical of American fight crowds—but he will have the speed, the strength and the power to achieve his objective, an early knockout.

Baer figures to "cash in" with two or three more championship matches this year and next, then retire. He must whip Braddock decisively first.

Tonight's fight may be the last conducted under the promotion of Madison Square Garden for the heavyweight title for some time. Only an upset triumph by Braddock, who is under contract to the Garden, could continue the hold of Tex Rickard's successors on the main pugilistic plum tree.

Baer's next championship fight, if he wins, will be under the auspices of the Twelfth Century Sporting club, the Garden's metropolitan rival.

Champion and challenger weigh in this afternoon at the state athletic commission office. Gates to the Garden bowl open at 5 p. m. The main bout, slated for 15 rounds or less, goes on at 9 p. m. The fight will be broadcast over a nation-wide (NBC) hookup.

Latest Fish Tale — This One Lassoed

KINSTON, N. C., June 13.—Fire Chief Julius Gray brought home a fish which he said he lassoed. His line looped as he cast into the Neuse river and a tug followed. "I pulled in a croaker weighing about a pound," he said. "The line had caught it over the back fin."

DEATHS

HENRY FOX

LISBON, June 13.—Henry Fox, 60, of 307 West Lincoln way, died at 2 this morning at the Cleveland Clinic hospital of complications following an operation.

Mr. Fox was born at Rome, N. Y., and came to Lisbon 22 years ago. He was employed in the office of the National Brass and Copper Co.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mai Newell of Rome, N. Y., and a brother, Byron Fox, also of that place. Mr. Fox was a member of the Masonic lodge, a Knight Templar and had served in the Philippines during the Spanish American war.

The body will be brought to Lisbon today to Bell's Funeral home and will be taken Friday to the home of Mrs. J. A. Martin, 307 West Lincoln way, where he resided before his death. Friends may call at the Martin home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday. Funeral service will be at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. B. J. Black, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. J. M. Cameron, pastor of the U. P. church. Interment will be in the Lisbon cemetery.

Prisoner Stuck

Truck Rounds Curve, 130 Negroes Tumble

LUXORA, Ark., June 13.—An even 130 Negroes clambered into a huge ruck and started for a plantation to work. The truck rounded a curve, a side broke loose, and all 130 spilled out.

"They weren't hurt much," said Mayor R. C. Langston. "Just cut and bruised a little. Not a bone broken in the whole outfit."

Even at that, it required Luxora doctors a half day to bandage the crew.

Dance Band Leader Shoots, Kills Self

CINCINNATI, June 13.—Henry R. Thies, Jr., nationally known radio and dance band leader, shot and killed himself as his wife, their son and a member of his orchestra awaited him for dinner last night.

Thies recently had been despondent. Coroner Frank Coppock said he was told. His mother, a sister and a brother reside in Chicago.

ST. LOUIS—A new district police station under construction will have gun turrets mounted on four corners of the roof, to serve as shields for machine gunners—just in case! The police department, in making this departure from ordinary style, said the measure is a precautionary one.

Insurgent Chiefs Back Third Party

ST. PAUL, June 13.—Farmer-Laborite, trade unionist and Socialist leaders today threw their weight behind a third party movement in 1936.

Other insurgent groups, notably the Wisconsin LaFollette Progressives and the Nebraska Democratic faction headed by former Governor Bryan, brother of the "Great Commoner," withheld comment for the present.

Howard V. Williams, national organizer for the Farmer-Labor party, issued a call today for a third party convention to meet in Chicago, July 5 and 6.

Admitting a schism in the third party ranks over the timeliness of the movement, Howard said there was sufficient interest to warrant calling the meeting.

"My own feeling is that if economic conditions continue to disintegrate," Williams said, "we ought to make a strong drive for a third party in the 1936 election with a national ticket."

Lake Placentia And Salem Merchants Both Lose Tilts Wednesday

Laughlin Chinas of East Liverpool Beat Salem, 7 To 2, At Newell, While Lake Placentia Bows To Hanna Oils of Lisbon, 4-3

SALEM'S entry in the Columbiana county baseball league came out on the short end of a game with the strong East Liverpool Laughlin Chinas Wednesday at the Liverpool field in Newell, losing 7 to 2. Willis and Miller were on the mound for Salem and Ed Pukalski and Willaman caught. Batteries for East Liverpool were Mackall and Thorne. Lisbon, playing at the fairgrounds in Lisbon yesterday, went down by one run, losing to the Hanna Oils, 4 to 3, in a hard-fought game. Placentia got seven hits off Pitcher Johnny Hrovatic while the Oils were able only to get six hits off the Placentia moundsman, Schopfer. The Salem Merchants will hold practice at 10 a. m. Saturday on the centennial park diamond, the club announced today.

Shorts In Sports

CHICAGO, June 13—Johnny Gill, left fielder for the Minneapolis Millers, had a wide margin over his teammate, Leo Norris, in the American association home run derby today as well as his name in the circuit's record book.

Gill, who has had brief try-outs with the Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators, tied the American association record, a mark equalled 24 times now, for hitting the most homers in one game by hammering three of them yesterday against Kansas City. The spurge gave him a total of 14 for the year, or four more than Norris' total.

Kansas City won the game, 9 to 7 to replace the Millers in third place.

SALEM LEGION SPANKS LISBON

Junior Legion Nine Hits County Seat Team Hard, 36-7

The Salem Junior American Legion baseball team, meeting Lisbon Wednesday for the first time, handed the Lisbonites a sound wallop, 36 to 7, as the Quakers got 22 hits from Pitcher Gibson of the Lisbon club.

Lisbon's batters on the other hand were able only to get six hits from the Salem Junior Legion hurler, Shears.

Seems now as though the Salem Legionnaires were set on wrecking havoc among the southern county Junior Legion teams. The game yesterday with Lisbon was the first game with a southern foe this season.

Miss Moody Has Day From Tennis

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, June 13.—Having won eight straight victories in her comeback campaign, Helen Wills Moody took today off while Katherine Stammers and Eileen Bennett Whitlingstall, high ranking British players, battled for the right to meet the Californian in the semi-finals of the Kent championships.

Mrs. Moody gave further evidence of the return of the magic to her racket, yesterday in losing only three games to Nancy Lyle, sixth ranking British player, as she advanced to the semi-finals with a 6-1, 6-2 victory. She will meet tomorrow either Miss Stammers or Mrs. Whitlingstall, ranked No. 3 and No. 8 nationally.

If successful she probably will clash in the finals with Dorothy Round, Great Britain's No. 1 player.

Referee and judges—To be announced from ring just before fight. Times of first preliminary—7:15 p. m.

Erie Net Matches

PAINESVILLE, June 13.—Outstanding women tennis players gathered here today for the second annual Mary K. Brown invitation, a tennis tournament at Lake Erie college.

Miss Ruth Bartlett, director of physical education for the college, said she expected the entries to include Miss Virginia Hollinger of Dayton; Miss Dolores Cook of Chicago; Janet Bricker of East Cleveland; Miss Helen Fulton of Chicago and Charlotte Baker of Cleveland.

Athletics Win Third Straight Yesterday Over Cleveland, 7-5

While Philadelphia Probably Will Not Cut a Big Figure In the Pennant Race, It Will Be Hard To Hold 'Em Down

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Associated Press Sports Writer.
It appears unlikely that the Athletics will cut much of a figure in the American league pennant race, but if they can keep going at anything like their current rate it will be hard to hold them down in the second division.

They raised their average to .444 after yesterday's third straight triumph over the Indians and cut Washington's six-place margin to half a game.

The A's had to overcome a bad start yesterday. Al Benton giving the Indians three runs in the first inning when Hal Trosky belted his ninth homer of the season, but they chased Mel Harder to the showers in the seventh and won 7 to 5. Earl Averil and O'Dell Hale of the Indians and Wally Moses of the A's also hit homers.

Washington took a 7 to 2 drubbing from the White Sox, who did some heavy stickwork behind Ted Lyons' five-hit flinging. The Sox gained a half game on the league-leading Yankees, who could get no better than an even break with the home run-hitting Browns. The Yanks won the opener 11 to 4, for Lefty Gomez, despite two circuit swats by Julius (Moose) Solters, but his third, plus one by Ed Coleman with two aboard, proved too much in the afterpiece and St. Louis pulled out a 7-6 decision.

French's five-hit elbowing and Philadelphia the nightcap 11 to 8. Chuck Klein copped individual honors with three home runs, two in the second game.

With "Pop" formerly "School-boy"—Rowe celebrating the increase in his family by pitching a three-hit game, the Tigers registered the day's biggest gain. They hopped from fifth place past Boston and Cleveland into third with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Red Sox.

Cards in 2nd Place
The Cardinals produced the day's only change in the National league standing, regaining their undisputed hold on second place by winning two games from the Braves while the Pirates were taking one from Brooklyn.

Boston fought well before going down 8 to 6 and 5 to 4. Dizzy Dean, who answered a hurry call to rescue Ed Heusser after the Braves had knotted the count in the eighth inning of the opener, got credit for his eighth victory when Terry Moore singled with the bases full in the ninth.

The Pirates plastered Emil Leon-Morrell and Johnny Babich for five runs in the seventh to come from behind and beat the Dodgers 7 to 3.

With Carl Hubbell pitching a steady game and Mel Ott belting a home run, the Giants had little trouble capturing Cincinnati 10 to 4.

The Cubs and Phillies hit one another with everything in sight and wound up with an even break in a twin bill, Chicago taking the opener 15 to 0, behind Larry

WHOSE WIFE? A CYRUS K. MANTEL MURDER MYSTERY

by CLADYS SHAW ERSKINE AND IVAN FIRTH

SYNOPSIS

Lawrence Vane, noted portrait painter, is held as a material witness in connection with the murder of his bride of three months following the discovery of a headless nude body upon the terrace of his penthouse apartment. Three weeks before that happened, two of his friends—Wilbur Renton and Roger Thornley—were discussing their love affairs and Vane's recent marriage to Isobel Mackenzie who was well known to both. Renton's interest in Isobel had caused a break between him and Betty Potter, a pretty young newspaperwoman, who lives in the apartment beneath the Lawrence Vane's. Thornley says that he and his wife Millie, a former show-girl, are leaving for Seattle soon. Renton calls on Betty to plead his cause anew, now that Isobel had married. She tells him that they cannot marry and reluctantly admits that she had been in love with Vane. Renton bitterly denounces Isobel, exclaiming that he'd like to choke her to death. Betty is horrified by his words. Early the next morning, Wilbur Renton denies that he had anything to do about notifying the police concerning the Vane murder, and is worried privately because he had called on Betty Potter so close to the scene of that homicide. Inspector Ingles persuades Betty to consult her uncle, Cyrus K. Mantel, famous detective. She does so, and Uncle Cyrus reluctantly accepts the case. He and Inspector Ingles call on Vane in his Tombs cell. The prisoner is telling what happened the night before.

CHAPTER IX

"I must have fallen asleep in front of the fire in my studio. I woke to find two police officers there. They told me some cock-and-bull story about a fight on my roof. Then they asked where my wife Isobel was. We went to look for her—and—his voice broke. 'She was gone!'"

"Yes," Mantel prompted. "And then?"

"Then Ingles here came in—he went out on the roof—then he and the officers came back and made me go out and look at the ghastly thing that lay there. He shuddered, and covered his eyes with his hands. 'Yes,' said Mantel again."

"Then Ingles arrested me," Vane's voice dripped with bitterness, "for the murder of my wife; that's really what his technical charge—'material witness'—amounts to."

Cyrus K. removed his pince-nez and gently stroked one eyebrow with the rim.

"And," he asked casually, "had you murdered your wife?"

"Good God, NO, man! I told Ingles—that woman's body wasn't Isobel's! I tell you!"

Ingles uttered an exclamation between a grunt and a groan.

"Snap out of it, Lawrence," he said. "You can't make that."

"That will do, Inspector," Cyrus K. interrupted him. "If you don't mind, I am conducting this case at the moment."

He returned his attention to Vane.

"Were you in the habit of having other women at your penthouse?" he asked.

Vane glared at him a minute, then—

"Only my models," he said.

"Ah! Only your models," Mantel repeated thoughtfully.

"Time's up!" came the voice of the guard, and the rattle of his keys sounded as he opened the cell door.

Through the bars that once more enclosed Vane alone, Cyrus K. reached a friendly hand, and shook that of the younger man.

"Keep up your courage," he said quietly. "You've been dealt a bad hand—you may have played it wrong, or the cards may have been stacked, I don't know."

He straightened and gave the trembling hand he held a hearty grasp.

"But this I do know, Cyrus K. Mantel is sitting in the game from now on—and we shall see, we shall see!"

As Inspector Ingles and Cyrus K. left Vane's cell and walked back with the guard to the main office, both men were silent.

Although their thoughts centered about the same subject, those thoughts varied greatly.

Mantel, characteristically was already mentally mapping out his first moves in this new game in which he had decided to take a hand. A game with far more than a prize of added fame for his already famous name. For the way in which this game was played, and his winning or losing, meant life or death to Lawrence Vane.

Ingles also was thinking of Vane and of Mantel. But he was wondering what possible moves Mantel could make that would prove the innocence of the man he himself had already condemned as guilty.

As they left the darkness of the Tombs and came out into the bright glare of the day, both men paused and with one accord looked up at the blue sky. Certainly at that moment their thoughts were the same.

"That's all right," Ingles assured him, "my time is yours for as long as you need me. Have your car here?"

"No, I never use the car when I'm on business, only for pleasure, or in case of an emergency, or the need of great haste. It's far too conspicuous for a detective who really wants to detect," he finished whimsically.

They got into a taxi and started uptown to the East Side, way over by the East River where that house of tragedy and cold somberness is, the New York Morgue.

As Ingles gave their destination to the driver, Mantel smiled his Puck-like smile and said: "We're doing very well indeed for a bright morning. The Tombs, a talk with a supposed murderer, and now the Morgue and a look at the body. Very cheerful, indeed, very cheerful."

Ingles grinned, but the worried frown did not leave his brow.

"All very well," he said, "only I wish to heaven all of your statement were true."

"What's not true about it, I'd like to know?" Mantel bristled in mock anger.

"Your use of the term 'supposed murderer.' Ingles told him. "It's a greater grief to me than you know, but Vane is guilty of a hideous crime if ever anybody was."

Mantel threw him a sidelong glance charged with sly mirth, and said: "In the parlance of the day, 'says you!'"

"And that's all very well, too," persisted Ingles doggedly, "but would you mind telling me what makes you think that Vane can be anything else but guilty when every point of evidence is so strong against him?"

"Who said I thought he was innocent?" Cyrus K. looked injured. "I don't know whether he's guilty or not. But," he tapped Ingles' big hand with his forefinger, "that's what I'm going to find out—and—" he stopped the finding finger to emphasize his point, "I'm working for him, not for the state."

"Well, the Lord knows that I wish you success, but I'm afraid you're up against a hard proposition," Ingles said morosely.

"I've been up against hard propositions before," Mantel snapped, with one of his lightning changes of mood. Then added thoughtfully, "What makes you so all-fired sure that Vane is guilty? After all, although I will grant you that the evidence is all against him, and damned bad at that, still it's all circumstantial evidence."

"Many a man's been hung or electrocuted on far less evidence than there is against Vane," Ingles said, "and besides, there's motive."

The Home Kitchen

By Jeanette Young Norton

KITCHEN NEEDS FOR QUANTITY SERVINGS

LATELY THERE have been many inquiries for information concerning the amount of food necessary for quantity servings. Parties, receptions, church and social affairs always are going on, whatever the time of year, so we feel that right now is as good a time as any to give you some hints as to the various amounts necessary, using only those foods and potables likely to be needed.

To serve 24 cups of tea you will need three-eighths of a cup of tea made with four and half quarts of water. For the same service use two cups of coffee with a gallon of water. One quart of punch served in small punch glasses will yield eight to 12 glasses, according to size.

For 24 portions of main course salad, using three-quarters of a cup to a serving, you will need four and a half quarts of salad. For other salad courses, using half a cup to a portion, four and a half quarts will serve 36 people. For mayonnaise and cooked dressings, one pint will be needed to make 20 to 30 portions, while the same amount of French dressing will yield 16 to 20 portions. Twenty-four to 36 portions of fruit cocktail or cup takes three quarts, using one-third to one-half of a cup per serving.

Cooking Measurements

While we are on the subject of measurements, it might be a good idea to give some weights and measurements to help you in your cooking, especially if you are rather new to the business. Here are some:

One pound of flour will yield four cups, and the same amount of butter will yield two cups. One pint of liquid makes two cups and for one cup of flour you need four ounces, while two tablespoons butter is one ounce of butter.

One pound of granulated sugar will make two cups and the same amount of brown sugar will yield two and one-third cups, the same quantity being realized from one pound of powdered sugar. One pound of confectioner's sugar will give three and a half cups. Two tablespoons make one ounce. And if a recipe calls for one gill, that means a quarter of a pint.

"But," Cyrus K. protested, "he had only just been married. Why, man, they were bride and groom!"

"Spoken like a true bachelor," Ingles laughed. "He had plenty of reason for the murder, if he found it out."

"Found what out?"

"About Isobel!" replied Ingles succinctly.

"What about Isobel?"

"Plenty," the Inspector was terse. "I see," said Cyrus K. slowly. "I see. Well, here we are at the morgue. First of all I'll take a look at this body."

"Isobel Vane's body," said Ingles distinctly.

Mantel looked at him a moment, then said quietly:

"Vane says that it is not the body of his wife. He ought to know."

"Then whose wife is it?" Ingles demanded.

"My dear sir! How can you expect me to tell you that so soon?" Cyrus K. was enjoying himself. "I haven't even seen the body yet."

The two men entered those portals which have seen so much of the tragedy of life through sudden death.

As Ingles and Mantel, for the second time that morning, left somber scenes for the bright sun of the day, the effect of the terrible things they had just gazed upon weighed upon each differently.

Ingles, although used to many sad and tragic happenings in his capacity as Police Inspector, was depressed. His stern face was set in lines of inner suffering.

Cyrus K., on the other hand, was alert. His always sharp wit seemed to have been sharpened still further by the sight of the body of Isobel Vane.

Now the case had become real to him—a fact—and one that needed his mind to unravel its many knotted threads. This was the sort of thing he lived for. Quicker mixed in the strange little man were different motives. If you were to ask him why he went into all these cases, he would tell you without hesitation that it was because he liked to solve mysteries, that that was his one interest in life, and he would disclaim any interest whatsoever in the human side of the cases. This would be true only partially—for he did love the joy of solving the unsolvable, and he preened himself like a small fighting cock in the plaudits of the public that followed each and every new coup made him; but when he said he was uninterested in the human side of the cases that he took on, there he lied deliberately.

For beneath his quick-tempered whimsical exterior lay the kindest heart in the world, and a close love of his fellowmen was a close-guarded secret in the breast of Cyrus K. Mantel.

Invents Insect Electrocuter

An invention which is capable of killing millions of harmful insects and pests in a brief time has been perfected by Dr. W. B. Hermes, professor at University of California, who is shown hanging up his electrical device which attracts the bugs by its light and then electrocutes them when they contact the charged wires of the cage surrounding the bulb.

Do you tire easily?

Sluggish, overworked blood makes you feel weak—mentally dull.

S.S.S. Tonic brings vitality and tone to the whole body.

BODILY WEAKNESS is only one of the many symptoms of a low red-blood-cell count. Loss of appetite, underweight, nervousness and like common ills are often due to this same underlying cause.

The red-blood-cells must be up to normal and vigorous to keep the tissues pure and to help supply the body with fresh oxygen-energy in its circuit thru the entire body of over 200 times daily.

S.S.S. Tonic, in the absence of any organic disease, should help you get those vital red-blood-cells back up to normal. It will make you enjoy your food and help your digestion, too. It is a scientific medicine, 108 years of success. Just try it and you, too, may soon "feel like yourself again." Insist on S.S.S. Tonic in the blood red cellophane wrapped package. The larger size is sufficient for two weeks' treatment—and is more economical, too. At all Drug Stores, © S.S.S. Co.

WITH A HANES
LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION!

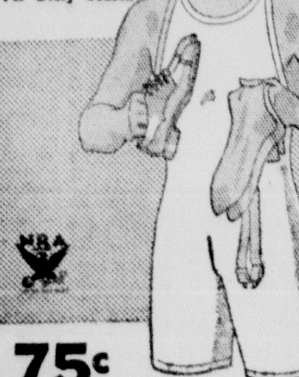

You'll never have to grab hold of a HANES Lightweight Champion and break it out of a clinch! Even the crotch on this knit union-suit keeps closed without closing-in on you. It can't cut or bind!

That's because the Champ is practically tailored for you. The chest is knit right to the dot... to the exact size you need. Then, the length is cut. And it's cut to match-up with what you measure down the front of your body! When you get yourself inside this suit, you can bend, twist, stretch, and reach... and it won't tie you up in knots! But neither will it bag or sag.

Honestly—we're wasting your time, if we keep on about the comfort of the Lightweight Champion. You'll learn a lot more by yourself, if you just slip into a suit. See your HANES dealer today. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.
